Excerpt: . . . example, the California data breach notification law is credited with bringing to the publics notice large data breaches within the private sector, including at information resellers such as ChoicePoint and LexisNexis last year. Although we do not know how many instances of identity theft resulted from last years data breaches, the Federal Trade Commission has previously reported that the overall cost of an incident of identity theft, as well as the harm to the victims, is significantly smaller if the misuse of the victims personal 20 information is discovered quickly. Arguably, the California law may have mitigated the risk of identity theft to affected individuals by keeping them informed about data breaches and thus enabling them to take steps such as contacting credit bureaus to have fraud alerts placed on their credit files, obtaining copies of their credit reports, scrutinizing their monthly financial account statements, and taking other steps to protect themselves. The chairman of the Federal...
